Building a Brush Pile

Locate a brush pile 10-15 feet from your feeders to provide shelter in inclement weather. Birds will find refuge from bitter winds, snow and predators like hawks and cats. Stack branches crosswise to create air spaces. It's nice to occasionally scatter a handful of mixed seed under the brush pile or under any thick shrubbery in the yard. Watch for shy, skulking bird species that may not regularly visit your feeders.

Jolly Ornaments
